Biological Science	7

Current Student Population

Spring 2016 was a population of about 120 international students. This number fluctuates as students complete the program, transfer, or may be terminated on violation of their F-1 status. However, we see a steady increase in the number of students being admitted, and arriving (indicated on previous page).

The majority of international students at CCC are from East Asia and South Asia. However, we welcome students from all over the world and are advocates for diversity.

Transfer Data

The 4-year transfer pattern is offered to all students including international students. Many international students transfer to Universities of California (UC) and California State Universities (CSU).

Transfer Term	Total # of Students	# of Students Transferred
Fall 2015	102	24
Spring 2016	108	8
Fall 2016	120	26

SARS Data

The Student Appointment Reservation System (SARS) has been available to the International Student Office (ISO). However, utilization of this system was not effective until the middle of the fall 2015 semester.

The graph on the right indicates the percentage of the reasons international students come to the office.

I-20 requests and general information requests make up the bulk of these reasons.

Note: The use of SARS is still limited and is expected increase once the office moves.
